Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 7 and 14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. For claim 7, "said elastic means" lacks antecedent basis. For claim 14, "said connection element" lacks antecedent basis.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-5, 7-11, 13 and 14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Bruckner et al. Bruckner teaches a table (Fig. 1) with variable configuration comprising: at least a frame (12) to support a main plane (38 and hinged parts 20) and an assembly (56,58,60,62, 16,18), associated with the frame and able to move the main plane from a lowered position to a raised position and vice versa, wherein the assembly comprises a first mechanism (56,58,60,62) and a second mechanism (16,18) and wherein said first mechanism is connected to the main plane to selectively lift or lower the main plane and wherein the second mechanism is connected to a service plane (112), substantially parallel to said main plane to normally take the service plane below said main plane in the lowered position and substantially adjacent to the main plane in the raised position. A connection element (90) attaches the mechanisms together and a spring (114) is part of the first mechanism.

Claims 1, 3, 6-8, 11, 12 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Crowther et al. Crowther teaches a table (Fig. 1) with variable configuration comprising: at least a frame (1,2) to support a main plane (5) and an assembly (see Figs. 3 and 6 for 5 and 5'), associated with the frame and able to move the main plane from a lowered position to a raised position and vice versa, wherein the assembly comprises a first mechanism (see Fig. 6 for 5) and a second mechanism (see Fig. 3 for 5') and wherein the first mechanism is connected to the main plane to selectively lift or lower the main plane and wherein the second mechanism is connected to a service plane (5'), substantially parallel to said main plane to normally take the service plane below said main plane in the lowered position (when the main plane is still in the raised position; see Fig. 2) and substantially adjacent to the main plane in the raised position (when the main plane is also in the raised position; see Fig. 3). A spring (14) is part of the first mechanism and a panel (4') defines with the frame a compartment capable of storing objects.
